H59 UNIVERSAL GAMING HEADSET Genesis H59 is a headset which can be used with both PCs and consoles. Its universality is just one of the advantages, besides high-quality audio and full control over the sound settings. MULTIPLATFORM The H59 would be appreciated among the players, who do not limit themselves to only one platform. The headset is equipped with a special adapter, which allows you to seamlessly connect to your PC. Moreover, a one meter long connector is very convenient and will let you enjoy high-quality sound even from a slightly longer distance. Thanks to all of that, there is no need to buy another headset for the other device. A DETACHABLE MICROPHONE The H59 is equipped with a sensitive microphone, which ensures high quality sound transmission without any major disruptions. Additionally, the microphone can be easily and quickly detached, when there is no need to use it, to not disturb during the gameplay. FULL CONTROL The headset's volume and microphone settings can be adjusted with a special control panel, which is located on the cable. Thanks to that solution, you do not have to break away from the game in order to adjust the sound settings.
